NERVOUS TENSION OF THE POPULACE

Not Relieved by the Apparent
Unconcern of Monarch.

All the Brightness of Planned Celebration Falls to Dispel Gloom of Country.

FUNERALS OF THE VICTIMS

London, June 2.—The Madrid correspondent of the Central News wires that Robert Hamilton, the Englishman, arrested yesterday on suspicion that he was the accomplice of the anarchist who threw the bomb at King Alfonso, was released this morning. Hamilton proved he was a tourist. The assassin is still free.

Madrid, June 2.—The nervous tension of the populace has been wrought up to the highest pitch by the terrible event of King Alfonso's wedding day. The period of wedding feasts while officially proceeding, is filled with sinister forebodings. The king and queen sought to reassure the public by appearing today in an open automobile unattended by a military guard. The king and queen had an outward appearance of serenity. They were wildly acclaimed as they passed through Puerta del Sol, but this was mingled with shrieks of fear from women who felt this was another invitation to some miscreant to scatter death and destruction. Tonight the heavens are red with illuminations and from the palace, the royal family and their guests watched the lurid play of rockets and Roman candles; but all the brightness fails to lift the gloom that has fallen on the community and seems but a reminder of the events of the wedding day. Lines of cavalry guard the entrance to the palace.

The police today arrested an elegantly dressed Englishman as he was boarding a train, as the person nearest to fitting the description of the author of the outrage; but a lengthy interrogation of this prisoner in presence of the proprietor of the chamber from which the attempt was made gave no satisfactory results. The funerals of the eight officers and men, Marquis of Tolosa and her daughter and Countess of Ordesa took place in the presence of a vast concourse. At the cemetery military honors rendered.

Four More Die.
Madrid, June 2.—Four more deaths occurred today of victims of the bomb outrage, and thirty additional injured persons were reported to authorities. Two more horses which were drawing the royal coach have died.

Gomez Will Resign.
Caracas, Venezuela, June 2.—Acting President Gomez, having refused to accept Gen. Castro's proposition involving the continuance of the former in office, the latter declined to meet Senor Gomez at Los Toques Wednesday, thus consummating the rupture between the acting and former president. Senor Gomez now announces that he will call a special session of congress to consider his resignation. There is feverish excitement here.

SAFE TOUCHED.
Somebody Extracted $800 From It Without Using Force.

Detective T. J. Moore, employed privately, is working on one of the biggest robberies reported in the city in some time. A safe was "touched" for $800, $540 of it being in silver. This much information was given out at the city hall but names are withheld. It is said that the safe was opened, not by force but by skill, and the money taken last night. The detective was seen this afternoon but refused to give out any information. He stated that he has a pretty good clue and might get his man by night.

E. H. Harriman sent his $10,000 automobile to a repair shop in New York City in January, and when he got a bill for $1,797 refused to pay it. The owner of the repair shop refused to surrender the vehicle, and Mr. Harriman proceeded to recover it by a writ of replevin.

TO FIGHT CHINA.

Japs Are Said to Be Preparing Their Army.

Victoria, B. C., June 2.—According to advices received by the steamship Kanagawa yesterday, the Eastern World, a German paper of Yokohama, published a sensational leading article stating that Japan is getting the army and navy in readiness with a view to forcing war with China two or three years hence. The Eastern World says another war with China would offer promising prizes, and a pretext could be soon found. The paper goes on to state that Japan's hopeless indebtedness to England is driving the country to plan an attack on China.

MEMORIAL DAY

WILL BE CELEBRATED BY ODD FELLOWS JUNE 17.

Big Crowds From Surrounding Towns Will Attend—Speakers for the Occasion.

The local lodges of Odd Fellows will hold their annual memorial day on June 17 and arrangements are being completed for the speakers and bands. It will be made the biggest memorial day ever held in Paducah.

Last night the local lodges held a meeting and decided on the date and two speakers. The speakers are Rev. Calvin Thompson, of this city, and Prof. Spencer, of Metropolis, county superintendent in Massac county, Ill. He was prominent in the interstate meeting. There will be a band, but this has not yet been definitely arranged for. The program was referred to a committee to report back Thursday night.

"We expect to have the biggest memorial service ever held in Paducah," a member of the lodge stated today. "We expect members of the Metropolis, Mayfield, Brookport and other Illinois and Western Kentucky lodges to be here in force. We expect several hundred visitors."

Acquitted of the Murder.
New York, June 2.—Josephine Terranova yesterday was acquitted of the murder of her aunt, Concetta Reggio.

BEATING HORSE

CAUSES EDWARD SCOTT TO BE FINED HEAVILY.

First Prosecution By Paducah Humane Society Terminates Quickly in Conviction.

Edward Scott, colored, was fined $10 and costs in police court this morning for unmercifully beating and mistreating a horse. This is the first instance where a fine has been assessed after a vigorous prosecution by the Humane society which lately reorganized and began active work against cruel drivers. The case sets a precedent and it will not be a matter of "don't do it next time" again. Defendants will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law.

WATCHING FIGHT ON CLOSING LAW

Local Saloon-keepers and The Officials Interested.

First Test Ever Made of the Statute
On in Louisville—Has Been in Force Here.

GENERAL COUNCIL REGULATES

The action of Police Judge McCann, of Louisville, who yesterday decided that the Sunday closing laws relative to saloons was unconstitutional in the state of Kentucky, has created a great deal of talk generally throughout the state, and Paducah comes in for her share of the interest.

Saloon keepers all over the city are discussing the matter, but it is said no action will be taken as far as local saloon keepers are concerned. The matter is on for a fight in the courts in Louisville and ultimately will be decided in the appellate court. Local saloon keepers are content to let the matter quietly rest until it has gone through the higher court.

No such test has ever been made of the law in Paducah. Formerly when saloon keepers were arraigned for keeping open on Sunday a fine of $10 and costs was assessed. It was paid and this was the last heard of it. The ministers made such a fight that they were closed tight, and this failing after a time the municipal boards adopted stringent rules regarding Sunday closing, deciding not to issue license to those found guilty of violating the Sabbath. This is the way the saloons are so tight on Sunday.

As far as the matter of making a test in Paducah is concerned, it is said this is out of the question. The fight in Louisville, which was won with interest by local saloon men.

Sorry He Gave It.

Attorneys for John Alexander Dowle yesterday started proceedings in the Muskegon, Mich., courts to revoke the power of attorney given to W. G. Voliva during Dowle's absence in the south.

OUT OF THE WAY

JOHNSON RUSHES AND COLLIDES WITH WAGON.

Three Holes Are Knocked in Negro's
Head During Rush Going to Fire.

Allan Johnson, colored, head cook at the Palmer House, was seriously injured at Fourth street and Broadway yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the rush following a run of the No. 1 fire company.

The fire company had been called to South Second street and wagons were moving about rather fast. The negro was on a bicycle and ran into the R. Weille delivery wagon. His wheel slipped and he was going rather fast when struck.

Three holes were knocked in Johnson's head. One over the right eye, another on the right cheek and one under the chin. He was knocked partly unconscious and fell to the street. He was taken to a physician's office where the wounds were dressed.

AGAINST YANKEE MEAT.

London, June 2.—The British press is devoting much space to the revelations of the American meat packers. Appeals are made to support home industries and discourage the sale of American canned goods. Already orders for large consignments of canned meats from America are cancelled or greatly reduced. The London Times this morning made a terrific attack on the "Yankee Meat Bosses."

HAS JUST BEGUN SAYS THE BOARD

Louisville Lid Will be Held in Place if Possible.

Conferences Held by Forces on Both Sides of Sunday Closing Contest.

MAY KEEP OPEN TOMORROW.

Louisville, June 2.—"The fight for Sunday closing has only begun."

This was the declaration made by City Attorney Richards this afternoon after an hour's conference with Mayor Barth and the board of public safety in executive session.

At the conference held at noon Judge McCann's decision was read and discussed. The board of safety decided that no backward step should be taken, and that the order for Sunday closing would be carried out as originally promulgated if there was any law to carry it out, even in the face of Judge McCann's decision.

The board of safety will be guided by the advice of counsel as to how the police department will proceed next Sunday if the saloonkeepers attempt to keep open.

Judge Richards this afternoon, after declaring that the fight for Sunday closing had only just begun, further declared that the original order made by the board would be carried out.

"Whether the saloons will remain open on Sunday next" said a member of the Retail Liquor Dealers' Protective association, "largely depends on the decision of the jury in the cases which will come up in the police court tomorrow morning for working on Sunday. If the defendants are acquitted, then the saloons may be kept open. If they are not acquitted, it may be different."

The general opinion among the saloonkeepers is that they will keep open next Sunday.

vention, Cox Not Being Mentioned.

Convention Hall, Nashville, Tenn., June 2.—One of the warmest and, in some respects, the bitterest political campaigns that the Democracy of Tennessee has ever fought within its own household and under its own roof ended tonight shortly after 10 o'clock, when Hon. M. R. Patterson, of Shelby county was nominated as the candidate for governor. The result was in doubt up to the meeting of the convention this morning.

EFFORT TO SAVE HIM HE RESISTED

Aged Man, Tired of Life, Takes Dose of Laudanum.

"I Am in the Way," He Said, and Refused to Permit of Medical Attention.

CHILDREN PLEADED WITH HIM

J. B. Crane, 76 years old, died at 2:05 o'clock this morning at his home place on the Husbands road from the effects of one ounce of laudanum taken with suicidal intent Thursday morning at 9 o'clock. The action was prompted by general despondency caused by rapidly breaking health, and the case is a most deplorable one.

"I am tired of being in the way; tired of living," he told H. E. Jett, a neighbor shortly before he took the drug. "My money is about gone, and my health fast breaking. I am unable to work the crops, and am in the way."

After making this statement he went into the farm house, drained the bottle of laudanum and informed his children of his action.

Medical aid was stoutly refused until the efforts of the fast sinking old man grew feeble and his resistance was so weak that the stomach pump could be used. But it was too late. The patient was too far gone, and at 2:05 o'clock this morning death came.

Crane was born in Ohio but lived sixteen years in Henderson county, Ky. He came to this county several years ago and resided in the Maxon Mills section. About one year ago he moved to the farm he lately worked, on the Husbands road in the Tyler neighborhood. He had been in failing health and his work on the farm gradually grew less until he was forced to retire.

Thursday morning he acted as he usually did, except possibly talked a little more despondently. He took

He is survived by a wife and the following children: Robert, Joe and Clarence Crane, of the county, the former working in Paducah, and T. L. Crane, of 1232 Bernheim avenue; and his two daughters, Mrs. J. D. Melton; Finley street, and Cora Estes, wife of Clifton Estes, of Birmingham, Ky.

The funeral will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, burial at Whitlock cemetery in the county.

INTO DITCH

MISS LANDER FALLS AND DISLO-
CATES SHOULDER.

Necessary for Rescuers to Secure Ladder to Get Her Out—Dangerous Place.

Falling into an excavation on her way to the drug store last night from Mrs. Morrow's boarding house on Kentucky avenue, Miss Marian Lander dislocated her shoulder and received a severe shaking up. The ditch across the sidewalk is six feet deep and narrow. A plank about a foot wide was laid across it near the fence. There was no light within a hundred feet. It was necessary for her rescuers to place a ladder and descend into the ditch before she could be taken out. The street improvement men had been warned to place a light there as it is only a few feet from the gate.

The son while in Paducah railroaded, securing his first experience here. He was employed as elevator boy in the B. Weille store for some time prior to his adopting railroad.

The condition of Reuben D. Hill, United States district attorney for the western district of Kentucky, has taken a turn for the worse, and according to the latest information from his bedside at Williamsburg, Ky., the worst is expected at any moment. Over Two Hundred Already Dead in Town of Cananea, Mexico, and

CONSUL APPEALS FOR HELP.

Washington, June 2.—The United States government has requested the Mexican government to authorize the use of American troops in quelling riots at Cananea, Secretary Root wired Ambassador Thompson at Mexico City immediately to acquaint the Mexican government with the facts of the situation at Cananea and ask Mexico to take effective measures for the protection of American citizens there. Also to request from the Mexican government an answer suggesting what measures, if any, the United States may take in affording protection to its citizens. Diplomatically this request is an appeal to Mexico to grant authority for temporary invasion of her territory by American troops. Until Mexico's reply is received no troops will be sent.

Naco, Ariz., June 2.—Information just received states that the dead at Cananea, Mexico, where the Mexican miners engaged in bloody rioting yesterday, now number almost 200. The information was brought by refugees who arrived on a special train. They reported the fighting as desperate when they left. Garrison of the United States forts nearest the border are displaying great activity. Although it is not admitted that orders to move toward Cananea have been received, preparations indicate the soldiers are preparing to act the moment orders come from Washington. Most of those killed in rioting were Americans.

The trouble arose at Cananea over the demand of the Mexicans for an increase of wages from $3.50 to $5 per day.

Governor Ysabel, of Sonora, is hurrying from Hermosillo, the capital of the state and will be met by the Bisbee force.

Mattoon	10	18	.357

Off day yesterday—No games.

Today's Schedule.

Mattoon at Paducah.
Jacksonville at Calro.
Danville at Vincennes.

The Indians are prepared to regain the place from which they so suddenly fell and feel that with the encouraging rooting of the fans, and the fact that they are "at home," will prove a big factor in the games.

Chief Lloyd has little to say about the trip except that he received excellent treatment with his team at Mattoon, Danville and Vincennes. At Jacksonville direct insults were offered the players in some instances, and one of the games, that in which Tadlock was taken out of the box and Lloyd finished out, the game was converted into a farce. Lloyd threw the ball over the grand stand.

"We could not even get a hearing in Jacksonville," Lloyd and other members of the team declared. "We had no chance at all—and it was impossible to assert our rights. It is really a wonder they permitted us to remain in Jacksonville."

At Mattoon, Danville and Vincennes the team received excellent treatment, especially at Danville. The town seems to be full of fans of the better class, and members of the Paducah team spoke well of the management and treatment.

This afternoon the Indians opened a series of games with the Mattoon team. Mattoon was the first team the Warriors met when the league opened, and Lloyd is undecided who he will send into the box to work.

The boys are feeling straightened out by one day's rest and will put up a snappy article of baseball.

By constant hammering writers, on sheets in the K. L. T. league circuit have, through the medium of ridicule, "hot shots" and other effective paragraphing, brought "Pap" Farnbaker "out of it" for a short time, and he has looked into the glass and seen himself as others see him. At least this is what we are led to believe after reading a lot of jumbled rot alleged to be a joke from the Bulletin writer's "facile" and "strenuous" pen. "His Jags," King Farnbaker the First (may be the last, any way we hope so) has performed another one of those vicious, strenuous, pithy and entirely original feats with his "little pen." We might quote it, but we will spare the reader. "The only way we can figure it out," is a dive into the cellar, a well rolled pill, long stemmed pipe, a match and "solid comfort." Go down, get the experience.

To Drive Out Malaria and Build Up the System
Take the Old Standard GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC. You know what you are taking. The formula is plainly printed on every bottle, showing it is simply quinine and iron in a tasteless form. The quinine drives out the malaria and the iron builds up the system. Sold by all dealers for 27 years. Price 50 cents.

and then take a turn with the pen. This is how the trick is turned.

The Indians did take a tumble, but even the best sometimes fall. The object is to "get it back." It means fight, but the Indians are full of it.

The Paducah sporting writers are not attempting to win the pennant in the newspapers. They rely on the team. Manager Lloyd is paid to manage the team, select players and win the rag, if possible. The writers are paid to write and try to attend to their part of the work. We notice that sporting editors sometimes attempt to run the league, the baseball team and lastly, but not least, a newspaper. Too many hands in the pie.

A new pill roller passed through Paducah en route to Calro. He asked to look at a Calro Bulletin while here and turned to the baseball column. "He's using that same old brand, I see," the pill drummer remarked. "Still sticks to the ship."

Like a Millionaire.
Asher Hinds, the parliamentary clerk in the House of Representatives who keeps the speaker straight on all matters and who is the great parliamentary sharp of the country, comes from Maine. He was at Bar Harbor one day last summer, during the horse show.

A man approached him on the street and said: "Don't you want to buy a hackney, sir? I have a fine one I can sell you for a thousand dollars."

"Great heavens!" exploded Hinds. "Do I look like a millionaire?"

"Well," said the horseman, after a critical survey of Hinds, "I have seen plenty of millionaires that look just as bad as you do."

Sanitation Hints.

Good sanitation for 1906 should be your motto.

Clean your premises, keep them clean and sprinkle with lime.

Screen your doors and windows and keep out the housefly, the most dangerous of pests. It carries disease and infection.

The most effective money spent in advertising Paducah will be that spent in cleaning and draining it. Every citizen can help to do this, in their own way.

No mosquitoes, no malaria. A clean city no danger of yellow fever and typhoid.

A Central Park for a good morning breath.

MATRON RESIGNS FROM RIVERSIDE

Miss Farley Will Return to Her Home in Wisconsin.

Committee Will Select Her Successor—The New Staff of Hospital Physicians.

BOOKKEEPER TO BE CHOSEN.

Miss Frances Farley, superintendent of Riverside hospital, has tendered her resignation, effective July 1, and will return to her old home in Wisconsin. The board of directors has accepted the resignation but no successor has yet been selected.

Miss Farley came to Paducah to take charge of the city hospital last fall when the institution was opened, and has made an efficient official. The hospital has been made a success and a great deal of it is due to Miss Farley's good management.

The matter of selecting a successor to Miss Farley has been referred to a committee composed of Drs. Frank Boyd and H. P. Sights, of the board of directors. They will report candidates and the board will ratify the recommendations.

The new staff created for the Riverside hospital is: Drs. P. H. Stewart and Frank Boyd, surgeons; Dr. J. T. Reddick, Gynecology; Drs. J. G. Brooks and J. R. Coleman, medicine; Dr. C. R. Lightfoot, genito-urina; Dr. C. E. Purcell, eye, ear, nose, throat. This staff will serve for two months when an entirely new staff will be created, thus giving all the physicians in the city the advantage of hospital practice.

Service on the staff is not compulsory as all physicians are consulted before being assigned to positions.

The idea is one originally outlined before the hospital was assured. It is a good one and the matter of naming the first staff of six doctors has been left to a committee.

The matter of selecting a bookkeeper or clerk for the hospital was referred to Mayor Yeiser and Alderman O. B. Starks. Alderman Starks was named a committee to secure bids on a safe for Riverside hospital.

Big Tent Revival.

A tent revival service at Fifth and Jackson streets, was instituted by the Rev. Peter Fields and others, last night and bids fair to become a popular feature of religious worship in Paducah. There was a large crowd out to attend the opening and it is expected the big tent will be taxed to its utmost capacity before the meeting has been under way many weeks. There will be no service today but tomorrow in the morning the Rev. Fields will preach and the regular Sunday school will also be held. In the afternoon at 2:30 o'clock the Rev. Calvin Thompson will preach and at night the Rev. Fields will fill the pulpit again. The tent was secured to fill the place of a church while the new Third street M. E. church is being built this summer. Rev. H. L. Davenport, of St. Louis, a popular revivalist, will come to Paducah Monday to begin a big revival under the tent.

Acute Rheumatism.

Deep tearing or wrenching pains, occasioned by getting wet through; worse when at rest, or on first moving the limbs and in cold or damp weather, is cured quickly by Ballard's Snow Liniment. Oscar Olson, Gibson City, Ill., writes, Feb. 16, 1902: "A year ago I was troubled with a pain in my back. It soon got so bad I could not bend over. One bottle of Ballard's Snow Liniment cured me." Homesick Dog Would Board Train For Her Birthplace In Michigan.

That a dog's intelligence is next to man's was clearly demonstrated yesterday at the Illinois Central station depot. A fine bird dog was found by its owner after an absence of six months from home. The canine was lying in the baggage room door waiting for a train back home to Michigan. It had remembered the depot and probably after ill treatment for many months ran away and finding the depot decided to start for home again. She is "Maude Noble," a daughter of the famous "Connie Noble," of Michigan. She was brought over a year ago at a kennel in Michigan by Dr. Lillard Sanders and six months ago was stolen from him. He sent out detectives and tried in every way to locate her but to no avail. Yesterday he was at the I. C. station and found the dog curled up waiting for a train. She tried to board several trains north but was run off. "The dog was unloaded from the baggage car at the depot when I brought her here," Dr. Sanders stated. "She is a fine dog and has plenty of sense. I firmly believe that she remembered the depot and was waiting for a train to take her back home to Michigan."

Whole Fire Department Called To Inspect New Set of Harness.

The Paducah fire department, company No. 1, made a business call yesterday afternoon. It probably was the quickest business call ever made in the city, and probably the first of its kind. At the least it stamps the company as one of true business instinct, and while the run made was unnecessary, the joke is nevertheless appreciated. The firm of E. Rehkopf secured a contract to make a set of harness to be used on the fire engine team at station house No. 2. The harness was finished yesterday and the young lady stenographer at the Rehkopf office telephoned to Chief Wood inviting him around to inspect the work. The telephone message was confused and came into the station house something like this: "Chief Wood, fire department, is wanted at Rehkopf's." There was a scramble in the station house, a changing of bells and the chemical wagon and aerial truck whizzed out of the building and made for South Second street. Chief Wood inspected the harness all right but the joke did not leak out until the company regained the station house.

After Milk Dealers.

Warrants have been issued for Edward Clayton and Neal Overstreet, milk dealers, for engaging in that business without a license. They allege that they did not come to town more than twice a week. Judge Sanders has decided that once a week constitutes an offense of engaging in the dairy business if the milkman has no license. Inspector George Lehnard expects to get several others.

Once mamma said to her little daughter: "I don't see where you got your red hair; you don't get it from your father and you certainly don't get it from me."

"Well, can't I start something mamma?" asked Dorothy, in an aggrieved tone.—Royal Magazine.

"For goodness sake!" he exclaimed "what on earth are you doing with those old fly papers?"

"I saved them for you from last summer," she answered. "You said you always had to buy flies when you went fishing."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

"Again is the overbearing attitude of the railways in evidence," said the statesman.

"They didn't seem to resent your attack."

"That's the point. They treated it with superior indifference."—Washington Star.

A CREED FOR JUNE.

I believe in the love of the earth for the morning
While tree tops talk of the day to come;
I believe in the gladness of hopes a-borning
While yet the lips of them tremble—dumb.

I believe in the good, great world, and I love it,
I love and believe in Man, and the call
Of the Soul that is in it, and yet above it—

I believe in the God who made it all.

Wedding of Miss Jessie Byrd and Mr. Alexander Announced.

The wedding will take place at the Broadway Methodist church Tuesday June 12th, at 8 o'clock in the morning. No invitations will be sent out in the city.

May-June.

The week has been given over almost entirely to the charming affairs arranged in special honor of Miss Henrietta Koger, a bride of the coming week, and her house party of attractive bridesmaid guests, making a social round of more than usual pleasure.

The Koger-Blythe wedding and the round of festivities at the High school attendant upon commencement will divide the honor of the opening days of the June social calendar.

Details of the Koger-Blythe Wedding.

Social interest for the coming week centers in the wedding of Miss Henrietta Koger and Dr. Vernon Blythe, which will be solemnized on Tuesday evening at 8:30 o'clock at the Broadway Methodist church. It is one of the first of the June weddings and will be an especially brilliant and notable event.

The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. M. E. Chappell, of Princeton, Ky., formerly pastor of the Cumberland Presbyterian church in Paducah, and a personal friend of the bride's family. He will be assisted by the Rev. T. J. Newell, D. D., of the Broadway Methodist church. The wedding music will be played by Mr. Harry Gilbert. White and green will prevail throughout in the church decorations.

Miss May Phelps, of Washington, D. C., is the maid of honor and the bridesmaids are: Miss Ann Rhea, of Nashville, Tenn.; Miss Frances Harris, of Nashville, Tenn.; Miss Marie Scovel, of Jacksonville, Fla.; Miss Mabel Weaks, of Rome, Ga.; Miss Martha Davis and Miss Ruth Well.

The best man will be Mr. Arthur Y. Martin and the groomsmen are: Mr. David Koger, Mr. Edward Bringham, Mr. Edson Hart, Mr. Dow Wilcox, Mr. Calhoun Riecke, Dr. I. B. Howell and Dr. Frank Bourne.

It will be a white and pink wedding, charming in all of its details. The bride will wear a handsome gown of white satin made princess and trimmed with real lace. The bridal veil will be caught with orange blossoms and her bouquet will be bride roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

The maid of honor will wear white silk net over white silk, trimmed with pink roses. The bridesmaids will be gowned in white radium silk and will carry shower bouquets of pink sweet peas. The maid of honor and the bridesmaids will wear the short veil fastened with pink Prince of Wales tips.

The bridal party and a few intimate friends will be entertained after the church ceremony at the Koger home on Jefferson street.

Among the out-of-town guests present for the occasion will be: Mr. and Mrs. Isaac G. Rhea and Miss Louise Rhea, of Nashville, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Isler, of Hickman, Ky.; Mr. and Mrs. John Dillon, of Hickman; Mr. J. C. Helmer, of Covington, Ky.

Lolomai Lodge.

Mr. and Mrs. George Flournoy expect to occupy their country home, Lolomai Lodge, in about two weeks. The name which is a Moqui Indian word for beautiful, is indicative of something of the distinctive charm of the place which is prettily situated, a neighbor to Gregory Place, the Phillips' home "Woodlawn," and "The Pines."

Mrs. Flournoy, who is most artistic in her ideas, was her own architect, designed and drew her plans to scale, and altho' "mere man" laughed and said that it wouldn't work, it has worked beautifully. The house is something picturesque, marked by the charm of simplicity and durability, and an absence of any waste space. It is built of cypress logs with the bark on the outside and polished inside. It is two-story with three bedrooms upstairs, and the lower floor, a living room 26 by 29, and a dining room 20 by 20. Then there are wide porches, the front one 12 by 40, and a screened porch back of the living room, which can be used for a breakfast room. It is essentially a place to live in and enjoy living, and it will add another to the list of attractive country places about Paducah.

In Honor of Miss Koger.

Miss Kathleen Whitefield, at her home on Kentucky avenue, was the hostess on Friday from 4 to 6 of a charmingly informal afternoon in honor of Miss Henrietta Koger and her bridesmaids. A pretty color-effect of green and white was emphasized throughout in the house decorations and in the salad, ices and cakes of the delightful course-luncheon.

A charming feature of the afternoon was the presentation to Miss Koger of "Her Book," a resume of the child, college girl, debutante, engaged girl, and bride, with a dip into the future, cleverly arranged by the hostess, with original verses, and epigrams from the bridesmaids, and a letter from each of the grooms-men.

Miss Whitefield's guests were: Mrs. John Dillon, of Hickman, Ky.; Miss Marie Scovel, of Jacksonville, Fla.; Miss May Phelps, of Washington, D. C.; Miss Ann Rhea, of Nashville, Tenn.; Miss Frances Harris, of Nashville, Tenn.; Miss Mabel Weaks, of Rome, Ga.; Misses Henrietta Koger, Martha Davis, Ruth Well, Aline Bagby.

Dance to Miss Jackson.

Mr. G. H. Jackson, Mr. H. G. Spillane, Mr. H. E. Dewey and Mr. B. L. Mathis were the hosts of a delightful dance on Friday evening at the pavilion at Wallace park. The dance was given in compliment to Miss Mabel Jackson, of Flint, Mich., the sister of Mr. Grover Jackson. While it was an invitation affair, being at the pavilion lent the informal touch characteristic of the summer dances and made it all the more pleasant. The guest list numbered some 200 persons.

Delphic Club Year Book.

The Delphic Club Year Book for 1906-07 has been distributed among the members who thus will have opportunity to look ahead for material during the summer. It is very cleverly gotten up and covers the subject of Spanish history, literature and art most completely. The program committee, Mrs. Louis M. Riecke and Mrs. Frank Parham deserve signal recognition not only for the ability with which they have covered the broad ground, but, also, for the complete manner in which the book is gotten up. The subjects are assigned from October 2 to April 30, and each week's work is introduced by a pertinent quotation. The Spanish colors, red and yellow, are emphasized in the make-up of the book, and the frontispiece is adorned with the pictures of the young king and queen of Spain. Beside the year's work there is the roster of the club members and officers, the constitution and by-laws, the days for the business meetings, the social evenings—first Tuesdays in February and May—and varied items of information connected with the club. Altogether it is decidedly the most complete of the year books yet issued by this very up-to-date club and promises much for the thoroughness of the next winter's work.

Clark-Woodford Wedding, St. Louis. The St. Louis Globe-Democrat says:

"Invitations have been sent out by Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Bransford Clark of 5566 Vernon avenue for the marriage of their sister, Miss Mary Lee Clarke of Owensboro, Ky., and Mr. Allan Gilmour Woodford. The ceremony will take place on Wednesday evening, June 6, at 8:30 o'clock, Rev. Dr. B. E. Reed of Grace Episcopal church officiating in the presence of the relatives and friends of the young couple. A reception, also at the Clarke home, will follow. Miss Clarke will be attended by Miss Mary Boyd Bransford, of Owensboro, Ky., a first cousin, and Mr. Joseph H. Slaughter, of New York city, will be best man for the groom. Little Miss Ada Bransford Clarke, four years of age, will perform the duties of flower bearer. Miss Clarke arrived in St. Louis about a week ago from Owensboro in order to be married at the home of her brother. Mr. Clarke will give away. The young couple will leave after the wedding for a honeymoon tour. After June 20 they will be at home to friends at the Jefferson hotel in Richmond, Va. Among out-of-town guests coming to attend the wedding are: Mr. and Mrs. James Whittle Clarke of Henderson, Ky.; Mr. and Mrs. William H. Lockett of New York city; Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Cook of Evansville, Ind., and Miss Mary Caldwell of Evansville, all of whom are to arrive the Monday preceding the wedding."

Mr. Woodford has just received a signal recognition from his firm, The American Tobacco company, and has been changed to New York city, where they will live instead of Richmond, as the invitations announced.

Card Party to Miss Koger and Guests.

Mrs. Allen Ashcraft was the hostess of a pretty card party on Wednesday afternoon at the home of her mother, Mrs. L. S. DuBois, on Fountain avenue, at which Miss Henrietta Koger and her out-of-town bridesmaids were the honor-guests. Others present were the members of the Sans Souci club. The house was effectively decorated with roses, and a color-motif of pink was elaborated in the various details. The tallies were double hearts pierced by an arrow, with wish-bone pins for good luck.

Mrs. John W. Scott captured the first prize, and the visitor's prize was won by Miss Marie Scovel of Jacksonville, Fla. Miss Koger was presented with a beautiful shower bouquet of sweet peas. A delightful course-luncheon followed the game and was attractively served in a setting of pink. The cakes were heart shaped and iced in pink with love-knots and the initials "K. B."

The guests were: Mrs. John W. Scott, Mrs. Harris Rankin, Mrs. Will Gilbert, Mrs. Will Minnich, Mrs. Hughes McKnight; Miss May Phelps, of Washington, D. Miss Ruth Well's luncheon on Tuesday at her home on Jefferson street, was a charming compliment to the bride-elect, Miss Henrietta Koger, and her coterie of attractive bridesmaids. Covers were laid for eight, and sweet peas and daisies were used in the table decorations. The place-cards were hearts of pink and blue with the guest's name. Tiny pink and blue slippers filled with rice and containing a clever prophecy for each guest, hung by ribbons from a large wedding ring under the chandelier. The menu was elaborate and delightful, and the guests were: Miss Henrietta Koger, Miss May Phelps, of Washington, D. Daily Thought.

"A determined will is the fire under the boiler without which the best engine is valueless."

"Join us and give us the advantage of your views," is the answer of the Commercial club to all its critics, whether it be the vicious fellow, who impugns the motives of everybody by innuendo, or the citizens, who disagree with the club directorate as to the best means of accomplishing the objects of this representative organization. Captiousness is disarmed by this sort of reply, and it is honest. The most seriously considered campaign of the club for the year is to increase the membership, and no citizen, who has the good of Paducah at heart, is barred from membership. The business men, who for years have been paying dues into the organization and going down into their pockets to meet expenses in the work of the club, and have given up their time and thought to the interests of the city, deserve great credit. During the last year they succeeded in making the organization substantial and since have accomplished results which might not in years have been attained by the individual efforts of the citizens. That the motives of the members are high, is proven by the fact that everybody is asked to join and take part in the deliberations of the body, and participate in the execution of its designs, which is left to committees, one or more of which every member is placed. The idea of the Commercial club, as outlined at the beginning of the year, is to interest all the members in the work and give everyone something to do. There are not too many people in Paducah to belong to the club.

There is much scandal brewing concerning the big packing house, particularly in Chicago, and the probability is that much of it is untrue. The president's message will go to congress Monday. That will be official and then we will know how much said about the meat packers is true and how much is due to imagination. But since the matter has been considered seriously by the national government there is only one thing for the packers to do, and that is to not only submit to inspection, but insist on a thorough investigation. They have not appeared in Washington to oppose investigation with the strong lobby, with which they are accredited in the ten cent magazines, on this occasion, but evil construction even is placed on this attitude, and it is claimed the packers are only bluffing while they work secretly on the cattle men to defeat legislation. All these accusations are bound to reflect on the trade unless the rumors are put to rest by a thorough exposition of conditions in Packingtown.

The result of attempting to close the Buckingham theater in Louisville whose proprietors were at odds with the administration, has precipitated a question of state-wide interest and the whole of Kentucky is watching the result of the fight over the constitutionality of the Sunday closing law. It matters not whether the administration is, as it claims to be, in favor of Sunday closing, or whether the attempt to close the Buckingham brought about complications through which the enemies of the administration forced it to put on the lid in earnest.

est. Even the moral issue involved is obscured for the time being by the legal phase of the situation. The decision of Police Judge McCann seems to go into the very vitals of law and this is as it should be. The case is not decided yet by any means, but when it is, the indications are that the people of Kentucky will know exactly where they stand in the matter of Sabbath observance.

The Patterson men in the Tennessee convention charged the Cox men with attempting to carry the day by fraud, and the Cox men retaliated with the charge that the Patterson men were trying to carry it by force. Kentuckians are watching with bated breath the ultimate result of the state primary. So far observations are discouraging.

Hearst says the national democratic executive committee is interfering with the work of the congressional campaign committee at the behest of Wall street, while the national committee feel impelled to interfere to save the party from Hearst, and between them the situation probably will be saved in spite of all their efforts.

Now that the war is but a memory and the conquests of peace are in order, we may get a view of the Japanese character from a new angle, and then we may learn why it is missionaries contend that the Chinaman is superior to his island brother.

Some of the members seem intent on putting on the lid in the United States senate.

Matchless Workmanship.

Most diseases are of spinal origin. That is a characteristic generalization of Osteopathy in a nutshell, and is a contention that has never been disproved.

The Osteopathic diagnosis, and treatment are new and original, and the percentage of cures have attracted wide attention. This is history that cannot be successfully challenged.

We apply in a new way and with new force, old principles that are a part of the recognized, but theoretical teachings of every school of practice, but in an unsystematic form.

You cannot study the anatomy of the spinal column without marveling that it so seldom gets out of order. It is the most matchless piece of workmanship in all mechanics, and the wonder is that it should, sometimes, from the way it is abused, do its work at all.

By all laws of physics, the spine is liable at any moment to get out of order; it is subject to slips, wrenches, pressures, dislocations, sprains, contractions and congestions—any one of which will set up disorders, all of which require only an intelligent engineer to adjust to relieve and cure. The Osteopath is that engineer.

In just a few moments, I can easily explain to you why and how Osteopathy is achieving such a wonderful success in curing all kinds of chronic and acute illnesses and I shall take great pleasure in doing so.

Just now you may have a touch of the Spring ailment, to which we Paducahans are heir. If so, let me tell you how easily, how quickly such ailments yield to the Osteopathic treatment.

For the City.

County Judge R. T. Lightfoot has signified his intention of deciding the suit of T. J. Moore against the city of Paducah in favor of the city. He will enter his judgment Monday. Moore was a detective but was laid off by the cut made in the force by the passage of an ordinance in the municipal boards cutting the police force several men. Moore claimed he was appointed for one year, and that the action of the city was illegal. He brought suit in Judge Lightfoot's court to test the action. The case had been under advisement for a week.

Had Moore won it would have meant suits each month for salary by Moore and the other several officers who were laid off.

Ingram Will.

The will of the late Milton H. Ingram was filed for probate yesterday. The provisions are the same as published by The Sun several days ago. The estate is left to B. R. Weil, of Hot Springs, Ark., a nephew of the deceased's wife, who died two years ago. George Rawleigh is appointed executor of the estate. There are $400 all told in debts against the deceased, and the will enumerated them. The property at Fifth and Trimble streets will be sold by provisions of the will, the cash to be turned over to the nephew. Relatives of the deceased will not contest the will.

Verdict for Defendant.

In the case of Warnick against Hendrick a verdict for the defense was returned by a jury in Justice John J. Bleich's court yesterday afternoon. AWAKENED BY MAN
GAZING IN WINDOW

Pauline Harris Claims She Was Seized by Negro.

Charles Laverter, Colored, a Barber, Has Been Identified As Her Assailant.

IS HELD FOR INVESTIGATION

Awakened at an early morning hour to see a negro standing in her window, Pauline Harris, of Eighth and Harris streets, says she was seized and half dragged through the opening by a man, whom she identifies as Charles Laverter, a colored barber.

Charles Laverter, who has been before the court on divers charges, generally drunkenness, is under arrest on a serious charge. He is being held pending an investigation of the case.

Laverter, who is a heavy set, yellow negro, denies the charge.

The woman stated at the city hall this morning:

"This morning about 3:30 o'clock I was awakened by a noise at my window. I rose and went to the window to investigate. A negro was standing there and seemed to be drunk. I thought him to be white at first but a more careful inspection when he walked nearer the house revealed his color. He said something to me which I resented. He suddenly rushed at me, grabbed me by the wrist and tried to pull me through the window. I screamed and the man ran."

Laverter stated that he was not the man, that the woman is mistaken and claims to be able to establish an alibi.

The woman has two witnesses, Jim Davis who resides next door, and Rosa Wright who resides with her. Both saw Laverter and say he answers the description of the man who attempted the outrage.

The two additional witnesses inspected Laverter at the city hall this morning and positively identified him as the man. The male witness stated that Laverter tried to enter his house.

The Harris woman in company with Patrolman Scott Ferguson, went to Laverter's house this morning and found a discarded shirt of peculiar red stripe similar to the one the woman had noticed the negro wear. The shirt was damp with perspiration.

A warrant was issued for Laverter for detaining a woman against her will, and the bond was fixed at $300. He failed to give it and went to jail.

duct, continued; Ed R. eyes, colored, breach of ordinance, $5 and costs; two cows and two heifers, ordered to be sold in payment for fines for running at large in the streets.

In Admiralty.

A judgment in the admiralty matter of Dennis Hunt and William Cameron against the Steamer Joe B. Williams was received this morning by Federal Clerk J. R. Puryear. The two sue for wages alleged due. The court gave judgment in the former for $12.50 and dismissed the latter.

HEARST OPENS ON SUB-COMMITTEE

Calls Urey Woodson, of Kentucky, "Minor Asset."

Charges That Action of the National Committee Is Directed From Wall Street.

CLAIMS THE ISLE OF PINES.

Washington, D. C., June 2.— In the opinion of William Randolph Hearst, Urey Woodson, of Kentucky, doesn't amount to much as a politician. Hearst has opened his batteries on National Chairman Tom Taggart and the sub-committee appointed by the latter to advise the Democratic congressional committee.

Hearst says that Wall street, through Taggart and his advisory committee, is trying to get control of the congressional committee. Hearst wrote a long editorial, which he telegraphed to his papers in Boston, New York, Chicago, San Francisco and Los Angeles. He lifts the hide of Taggart and Woodson and the other members of the sub-committee. Here is the terse, comprehensive estimate which he places on the well-known Kentuckian: "Urey Woodson, of Kentucky, who is now nothing in particular, but is willing to be anything and is not particular. He is on" of the minor assets of August Belmont."

Claims Isle of Pines.

Washington, D. C., June 2.— In the senate today Senator Morgan called up for discussion his resolution on providing for an investigation of the conditions in the Isle of Pines by a special senate committee. He spoke at length on the resolution taking the position that the island is United States territory and urging that if the question is not properly settled the result will be very serious.

BUSINESS

WAS EXCELLENT DURING THE WEEK IN PADUCAH.

Opening of Clearance Sale Season Will Give Impetus to Retail Trade.

Clearings at the banks $573,584
Same week last year 543,382
Increase 30,202

Counter business at the banks was more active this week than the same week last year, and clearings show an increase for the week. The banks are entering upon the last month of the first half of the fiscal year. Business so far has been good with them, and earnings and deposits made a creditable showing.

Wholesale houses and manufacturers report satisfactory conditions, and the general tone to business is healthy. Collections are fair.

June is usually the first month of clearance sales, and this will stimulate retail business, which has been, so far, satisfactory. The season, on a whole, has been a little dull on account of the inclement weather.

Building trades are fairly busy. Real estate has been active the past few weeks, and prices have been satisfactory.

BRADSTREET WEEKLY REPORT.

Rather quiet retail trade conditions resulted from rainy weather and the passing of leading spring holiday, and natural seasonal quietness which supervenes at this period. Taken as a whole, May was a very active one in retail and wholesale trade and industries in which the best records of preceding years were surpassed. Fall trade reports continue exceptionally good. Building activity with natural effects on the market for material, but lower prices of yellow pine are construed as indicating future enormous production. Labor situations, on the whole are quite favorable. Finished products in iron reported quiet, but business in steel rails for future delivery still active.

ANNUAL SALE, TEN MILLION BOXES

ACTIVE, EARNEST, PERSISTENT EFFORT

GENERALLY NECESSARY TO DISLODGE AN ENEMY.

Energetic, persevering action is generally necessary to overcome the obstacles and attain great and noble ends in life. So, too, if one is afflicted with a dread disease which has fastened itself upon some of the organs of the body and become firmly seated as a lingering or chronic malady, active and persistent treatment is generally necessary to dislodge the enemy.

Since any medical treatment, however good it may be, must be long continued in order to be effective in old established and therefore obstinate cases, how important that the remedial agencies employed be of a harmless character. To be safe and harmless, when their use is thus protracted, they should be of such nature as to be easily eliminated or carried out of the system when they have performed their work, just as the finest food is carried out of the system. Most mineral medicines are not thus easily gotten rid of. Take arsenic, for instance, if introduced into the system in any considerable quantity it will lodge in the brain, liver, kidneys and other parts and there remain as a foreign body, setting up irritation and disease for a long period of time if death does not sooner intervene. This is also true of most mineral medicines.

With medicines of vegetable composition it is different. They do their work by aiding the natural functions of the several organs of the body for which they have an affinity. Like the refined food, our food, are carried out of the system through the natural excretories—the lungs, skin, kidneys and bowels. Thus no injury is done to the system in cases where the use of such medicines is continued for a long period of time. Especially is this true if the medicine taken is free from alcohol. It is well known, however, that even small portions of alcohol taken for a considerable period of time will do serious injury to the bodily organs and functions and especially to the brain. How important then, in choosing a medicine for treating a malady of long standing, and when medicines must, in order to cure, be perseveringly taken for a considerable period of time, that those only should be used which are known to be free from alcohol and of vegetable composition.

With most medicines put up for family use and sold through druggists, their composition is kept a profound secret, known only to those who compound and put them out for sale. Any afflicted person who buys and uses them, does so, as it were, in the dark, if not indeed at his or her peril. They may and generally do contain a very large percentage of alcohol or cheap whiskey which thoroughly unites them for protracted use. But this is not the worst fault of many of them, objectionable though it is. Narcotics and mineral poisons, which we have shown to be so harmful, especially when used protractedly, are contained in many of these secret compounds.

To overcome the well-grounded and reasonable objections of the more intelligent to the use of secret medicinal compounds, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., some time ago, decided to make a bold departure from the usual course pursued by the makers of put-up medicines for domestic use, and so has published a broad and open to the whole world, a full and complete list of all the ingredients entering into the composition of his widely celebrated medicines. Thus he has taken his numerous patrons and patients into his full confidence, and has shown that his formulas are of such excellence that he is not afraid to subject them to the fullest scrutiny. He has come to believe, and is willing to concede, that his medicines, and all who take his put-up medicines have a perfect right to know what they are taking into their stomachs.

Not only does the wrapper of every bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the famous medicine for weak stomach, torpid liver or biliousness and all catarrhal diseases wherever located, have printed upon it, in plain English, a full and complete list of all the ingredients composing it, but a small book has been compiled from numerous standard medical works, of all the different schools of practice, containing very numerous extracts from the writings of leading practitioners of medicine, endorsing in the strongest possible terms, each and every ingredient contained in Dr. Pierce's medicines. One of these little books will be mailed free to any one sending address on postal card or by letter, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and requesting the same. From this little book it will be learned that Dr. Pierce's medicines contain no alcohol, narcotics, mineral agents or other poisonous or injurious agents; that they are made from indigenous, or native, medicinal roots of great value, the properties of which are greatly enhanced by the use of triple-refined, chemically pure glycerine for proper strength. It will also be found that the inflexible principle greatly enhances the curative principles of the several roots employed, as it is the best possible solvent of their medicinal principles. The inflexible principle is of great value of its own, being a fine demulcent, nutritive, antiseptic and antiferment.

From perusing this little book of extracts, it will be found that some of the most valuable ingredients contained in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for women, nervous, over-worked, "run-down," debilitated women, were employed, long years ago, by the Indians for similar ailments affecting their squaws. In fact, one of the most valuable medicinal plants entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was known to the Indians as "Squaw-Weed." Our knowledge of the uses of not a few of our most valuable native medicinal plants was gained from the Indians.

As made up by improved and exact processes, the "Favorite Prescription" is a most efficient remedy for regulating all the womanly functions, correcting displacements, as prolapsus, anteversion and retroversion, overcoming painful periods, toning up the nerves and bringing about a perfect state of health. It cures the backache, the dragging-down distress in the pelvic region, the pain and tenderness over the ovaries, dries up the pelvic catarrhal drain, so disagreeable and weakening, and overcomes every form of weakness incident to the organs distinctly feminine.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, the makers of which are not afraid to print their formula on the bottle wrapper, thus taking their patrons into their full confidence. It is the only medicine for women, every ingredient of which has the strongest possible endorsement of the most eminent medical practitioners and writers of our day, recommending it for the diseases for which it is used. "Favorite Prescription" is used. It is the only put-up medicine for women, sold through druggists, which does not contain a large percentage of alcohol, so harmful in the long run, especially to delicate women. It has more genuine cures to its credit than all other medicines for women combined, having saved thousands of sufferers from the surgeon's knife. It has restored delicate, weak women to strong and vigorous health and virility, making motherhood possible where there was barrenness before, thereby brightening and making happy many thousands of homes by the advent of little ones to strengthen the marital bonds and add sunshine where gloom and despondency had reigned before.

MEN ARE PLEASED WITH NEW SCALE

Blacksmiths and Boilermakers Receive Increases.

Local Unions Granted Concessions Not Enjoyed by Workmen at Other Places.

DELEGATES ARE RETURNING.

The scale committee and higher I. C. officials who held a conference this week in Chicago for the purpose of settling on a scale of wages for the blacksmiths and boiler makers on the system have come to an agreement and made an amicable settlement. J. E. Thomas and John G. Smith, local delegates for the blacksmiths, returned to the city last night, but the delegates from the boiler makers are still away, having stopped over in East St. Louis.

The boiler makers got a slight increase, it is said, taking the concessions into consideration, and are satisfied with the scale agreed on. The committee signed up before the blacksmiths reached an agreement.

The blacksmiths receive a little more than the present scale, and the settlement is satisfactory. The Paducah union receives several concessions not given to other lodges. The wages remain the same, but several men who did not come up to the standard of the highest priced blacksmiths were taken in and their standing raised. This is an accomplishment—a feather in the caps of the local delegates.

"We got more than we have been getting, and are satisfied with the agreement," a local boiler maker stated this morning. "We got more than some of the other local lodges got over the system, and are glad to be so nicely recognized. It shows the road appreciates our work."

The delegates from the boiler makers' union are expected back tonight.

MILITARY REPORT.

The report circulated about a strike among the Illinois Central carmen is erroneous, and Mr. Quincy Wallace, who was the delegate from Paducah, states that he desires to have the article corrected. The report came out of Jackson, Tenn., and was sent out for purposes detrimental to the order, Mr. Wallace declared.

The carmen will send another delegation this coming week to Chicago to attempt to effect a new scale agreement.

W. A. Mundy, of the local I. C., has gone to Princeton on business. He is an engine foreman for the local I. C., but has been injured and off duty for several weeks.

Mr. Wm. Beades, formerly of the local Illinois Central, but now of the Seaboard Air Line, in Virginia, returned from Wingo this morning after visiting relatives.

Miss Grace Williams, of Krebs Station, day operator for the Illinois Central, is in Paducah today on a visit.

MILLINERY STORE.

Changes Hands July 1, Mrs. Girardey Retiring Then.

Mrs. Girardey's millinery store will change hands June 5. The papers have been signed and Tuesday the store will close for inventory. Mrs. D. C. Flowerree, of Louisiana, Mo., has purchased the store for her daughter, Miss Minnie Flowerree, who has been a trimmer for Mrs. Girardey. This is the oldest millinery store in the city, established in 1884. Mrs. Girardey will leave July 1 for Los Angeles to live. She will retire from active business life with the sale of her store. Mrs. Flowerree will arrive Sunday from Louisiana, Mo., to assist in the work of taking stock and starting the new store on its career.

OLD GLORY

Waves Over McCracken County Court House Today.

Old Glory floats over the court house today. It was raised this morning about 11 o'clock and attracts a great deal of attention. The flag, measuring about 10x8 feet, was received from St. Louis and will be plainly visible at night, Judge Lightfoot having had a cluster of incandescent lights placed above it on the flag staff. The idea is original with Judge Lightfoot and he stands all the expense.

BASIS OF PAYMENT OF FRISCO CLAIMS

Insurance Companies Meet and Adopt Resolutions.

Will Decline to Pay for Earthquake Damages or Work of Firemen in Destroying.

AFFECTS MAJORITY OF CASES.

New York, June 2.—An important meeting of the American Insurance companies was held here yesterday, when resolutions setting forth the position of the underwriters represented as regards the adjustment of liabilities in the San Francisco conflagration were unanimously adopted. The rulings adopted affect, it is claimed, not less than 75 per cent. of the insurance carried by the American corporations, and explicitly deny liability for purely earthquake losses.

Pointing out the complex and intricate nature of the problems presented for solution and stating that it is highly desirable that all losses for which the companies are legally liable should be promptly and fairly settled, the resolutions continue:

"Where policies covered buildings (and their contents) which had certainly fallen before the fire or which had been so damaged as to avoid the insurance under the express terms of the contract, claims under such policies should not be paid.

"Where policies covered buildings (and their contents) which may have been damaged or destroyed by the authorities, civil or military, subsequent to the conflagration, claims under such policies should not be paid until the facts have been definitely ascertained."

All cases that do not come within the exception it is provided should be paid in full at once subject to reasonable salvage. All other cases, where dispute is possible should be settled by compromise, being classified in the resolutions.

THE VELVET SECRET IS FREE TO YOU

THE LONGER THE LESSER—A WONDERFUL DISCOVERY

After many years of study and practice a prominent Virginia physician has discovered the cure for all forms of Constipation. It is called Chase's Constipation Tablets. I do not mean, said the Virginia Doctor to several of his colleagues announcing his success—that this is a fake cure-all, guaranteed to cure everything from pimples to paralysis, neither do I mean just another pill which breeds the pill habit; my remedy is a cure for one thing in specific which never fails. By gently toning the digestive organs so that they perform their natural functions. It restores them all to health and strength, relieves immediately and in a short time cures Constipation.

"The more you take the less you need until you need none—for you are cured. My effort all along was to avoid the evil of the ordinary remedy which pumps organs already weak and so makes the patient a slave to the pill. Remember—Nature expects every organ to do its duty."

Physicians have long recognized the fact that constipation is at the bottom of nearly every disease. It saps all energy, and makes life a burden; it opens the doors to all evil germs and makes the body too weak to resist them.

THE MORE THE LESS

Don't shuffle along with this great burden!

When a man's liver is working properly, the bowels are regular and the kidneys are active and healthy, what a joy it is to live. You get up in the morning feeling rested and bright after a good night's sleep, with a keen appetite for breakfast and a healthy relish for each meal, and when you go out the air smells good and you fill your lungs with pleasure, the sun shines, the birds sing, your every sense is acute and appreciative, the blood bounds through your veins, carrying life and activity to every minute cell and tissue, your horses are high, your mind clear, your spirits high, you stop buoyant, and you thank God that everything is so beautiful and that it is so good to live, ever feels like this.

No man or woman with torpid liver, constipated bowels and poisoned brain and nerves ever feels like this.

Go to your druggist and get a bottle of Chase's Constipation Tablets, and if after a fair trial you find the remedy is all it is represented to be, your druggist will refund your money without question or argument. In watch shape bottles, that fit the vest pocket, 25 cents.

FREE TRIAL OFFER

To any reader who sends us his or her name and address with five stamps to cover postage expenses we will send by mail full size 2-cent bottle of Chase's Constipation Tablets, the velvet worker that cures. Not a sample, mind, but a full-size 2-cent bottle. Let us prove it to you. Write today, addressing—

THE MAN ON THE BOX

By HAROLD MACGRATH
Author of "The Grey Clouds," "The Puppet Crown."

CHAPTER I.

INTRODUCES MY HERO.

Warburton was graduated from West Point, ticketed to a desolate frontier post, and would have worn out his existence there but for his guiding star, which was always making frantic efforts to bolt its established orbit. One day he was doing scout duty, perhaps half a mile in advance of the pay-train as they called the picturesque caravan which, consisting of a canopied wagon and a small troop of cavalry in dingy blue, made progress across the desert-like plain of Arizona. The troop was some ten miles from the post, and as there had been no sign of Red Eagle all that day, they concluded that the rumor of his being on a drunken rampage with half a dozen braves was only a rumor. Warburton had just passed over a roll of earth, and for a moment the pay-train had dropped out of sight. It was twilight; opalescent waves of heat rolled above the blistered sands. A pale yellow sky, like an inverted bowl rimmed with delicate blue and crimson hues, encompassed the world. The bliss of solitude fell on him, and, being something of a poet, he rose to the stars. The smoke of his corn-cob pipe trailed lazily behind him. The horse under him was loping along easily.

SUDDENLY THE ANIMAL LIFTED HIS HEAD.

Suddenly the animal lifted his head, and his brown ears went forward.

At Warburton's left, some hundred yards distant, was a clump of osage brush. Even as he looked, there came a puff of smoke, followed by the evil song of a bullet. My hero's hat was carried away. He wheeled, dug his heels into his horse, and cut back over the trail. There came a second flash, a shock, and then a terrible pain in the calf of his left leg. He fell over the neck of his horse to escape the third bullet. He could see the Apache as he stood out from behind the bush. Warburton yanked out his Colt and let fly. He heard a yell. It was very comforting. That was all he remembered of the skirmish.

For five weeks he languished in the hospital. During that time he came to the conclusion that he had had enough of military life in the west. He applied for his discharge, as the compulsory term of service was at an end. When his papers came he was able to get about with the aid of a crutch. One morning his colonel entered his subaltern's bachelor quarters.

"Wouldn't you rather have a year's leave of absence than quit altogether, Warburton?"

"A year's leave of absence?" cried the invalid. "I am likely to get that, I am."

"If you held a responsible position I dare say it would be difficult. As it is, I may say that I can obtain it for you. It will be months before you can ride a horse with that leg."

"I thank you, Col. Raleigh, but I think I'll resign. In fact, I have resigned."

"We can withdraw that, if you but say the word. I don't want to lose you, lad. You're the only man around here who likes a joke as well as I do. And you will have a company if you'll only stick to it a little longer."

"I have decided, Colonel. I'm sorry you feel like this about it. You see, I have something like $25,000 laid away. I want to see at least $5,000 worth of new scenery before I shuffle off this mortal coil. The scenery around here palls on me. My throat and eyes are always full of sand. I am off to Europe. Some day, perhaps, the bee will buzz again; and when it does, I'll have you go personally to the president."

"As you please, Warburton."

"Besides, Colonel, I have been reading Treasure Island again, and I've got the fever in my veins to hunt adventure, even a treasure. It's in my blood to wander and do strange things, and here I've been hampered all these years with routine. I shouldn't care if we had a good fight once in a while. My poor old dad traveled around the world three times, and I haven't seen any thing of it but the maps."

"Go ahead, then. Only, talking about Treasure Island, don't you and your $25,000 run into some old Long John Silver."

"I'll take care."

And Mr. Robert packed up his kit and sailed away. Not many months passed ere he met his colonel again, and under rather embarrassing circumstances.

CHAPTER II.

INTRODUCES MY HEROINE.

Let me begin at the beginning. The boat had been two days out of Southampton before the fog cleared away. On the afternoon of the third day Warburton curled up in his steamer chair and lazily viewed the blue October seas as they met and merged with the blue October skies. I do not recollect the popular novel of that summer, but at any rate it lay flapping at the side of his chair, forgotten.

At this particular moment this hero of mine was going over the monotony of the old days in Arizona, the sand-draws, the unlovely landscapes, the dull routine, the indifferent skirmishes with cattle-men and Indians; the pagan belief which had plowed through his leg. And now it was all over; he had surrendered his straps; he was a private citizen, with an income sufficient for his needs: It will go a long way, $4,500 a year. If one does not attempt to cover the distance in a $5,000 motor-car; and he hated all locomotion that was not horse-flesh.

For nine months he had been wandering over Europe, if not happy, at least in a satisfied frame of mind. Four of these months had been delightfully passed in Paris; and as his nomadic excursions had invariably terminated in that queen of cities, I make Paris the starting point of his somewhat remarkable adventures. Besides, it was in Paris that he first saw her. And now, here he was at last, home-bound. That phrase had a mighty pleasant sound; it was to the ear what honey is to the tongue. Still, he might yet have been in Paris but for one thing: She was on board this very boat.

Suddenly his eyes opened full wide, bright with eagerness.

"It is she!" he murmured. He closed his eyes again, the hypocrite!

Permit me to introduce you to my heroine. Mind you, she is not my creation; only Heaven may produce her like, and but once. She is well worth turning around to gaze at. Indeed I know more than one fine gentleman who forgot the time of day, the important engagement, or the trend of his thought, when she passed by.

She was coming forward, leaning against the wind and inclining to the uncertain roll of the ship. A gray raincoat fitted snugly the youthful, rounded figure. Her hands were plunged into the pockets. You may be sure that Mr. Robert noted through his half-closed eyelids these inconspicuous details. A tourist hat sat jauntily on the fine light brown hair, that color which has no appropriate metaphor. (At least, I have never found one, and I am not in love with her and never was.) Warburton has described to me her eyes, so I am positive that they were as heavenly blue as a rajah's sapphire. Her height is of no moment. What man ever troubled himself about the height of a woman so long as he wasn't undersized himself? What pleased Warburton was the exquisite skin. He was always happy with his comparisons, and particularly when he likened her skin to the bloomy olive pallor of a young peach. The independent stride was distinguishably American. Ah, the charm of these women who are my countrywomen! They come, they go, alone, unattended, courageous without being bold, self-reliant without being rude; inimitable. In what an amiable frame of mind Nature must have been on the day she cast these molds! But I proceed. The young woman's chin was tilted, and Warburton could tell by the dilated nostrils that she was breathing in the gale with all the joy of living, filling her healthy lungs with it as that rare daughter of the Cyprian Isle might have done as she sprang that morn from the jeweled Mediterranean spray, that beggar's brooch of Neptune's.

Warburton's heart hadn't thrilled so since the day when he first donned cadet gray. There was scarce any room for her to pass between his chair and the rail; and this knowledge filled the rascal with exultation. Nearer and nearer she came. He drew in his breath as the corner of his foot-rest (aided by the sly wind) caught her rain-coat.

"I beg your pardon!" he said, sitting up.

She quickly released her coat, smiled faintly, and passed on.

Sometimes the most lasting impressions are those which are printed most lightly on the memory. Mr. Robert says that he never will forget that first smile. And he didn't even know her name then.

I was about to engage your attention with a description of the villain, but on second thought I have decided that it would be rather unfair. For at that moment he was at a disadvantage. Nature was punishing him for a few shortcomings. The steward that night informed Warburton, in answer to his inquiries, that he, the villain, was dreadfully seasick, and was begging him, the steward, to scuttle the ship and have done with it. I have no doubts regarding this. Mr. Robert is inclined to flippancy at times. It wasn't seasickness; and after all is said and done, it is putting it harshly to call this man a villain. I recant. True villainy is always based upon selfishness. Remember this, my wise ones.

Warburton was somewhat subdued when he learned that the suffering gentleman was her father.

"What did you say the name was?" he asked innocently. Until now he hadn't had the courage to put the question to any one, or to prowl around the purser's books.

"Annesley; Col. Annesley and daughter," answered the unsuspecting steward.

Warburton knew nothing then of the mental tragedy going on behind the colonel's state-room door. How should he have known? On the contrary, he believed that the father of such a girl must be a most knightly and courtly gentleman. He was, in all outward appearances. There had been a time, not long since, when he had been knightly and courtly in all things.

CHAPTER III.

THE ADVENTURE BEGINS.

It was only when the ship was less than a day's journey off Sandy Hook that the colonel came on deck, once more to resume his interest in human affairs. How the girl hovered about him! She tucked the shawl more snugly around his feet; she arranged and rearranged the pillows back of his head; she fed him from a bowl of soup; she read from some favorite book; she smoothed the furrowed brow; she stilled the long, white, nervous fingers with her own small, firm, brown ones; she was mother and daughter in one. Wherever she moved, the parent eye followed her, and there lay in its deeps a strange mixture of love. All the while he drummed ceaselessly on the arms of his chair.

And Mr. Robert, watching all these things from afar, Mr. Robert sighed dolorously. The residue air in his lungs was renewed more frequently than nature originally intended it should be. Love has its beneficences as well as its pangs, only they are not wholly appreciable by the recipient.

For what is better than a good pair of lungs constantly filled and refilled with pure air? Mr. Robert even felt a twinge of remorse besides. He was brother to a girl almost as beautiful as yonder one (to my mind far more beautiful!) and he recalled that in two years he had not seen her nor made strenuous efforts to keep up the correspondence. Another good point added to the score of love! And, alas! he might never see this charming girl again, this daughter so full of filial love and care. He had sought the captain, but that hale and hearty old sea-dog had politely rebuffed him.

"My dear young man," he said, "I do all I possibly can for the entertainment and comfort of my passengers, but in this case I must refuse your request."

"And pray, why, sir?" demanded Mr. Robert, with dignity.

"For the one and simple reason that Col. Annesley expressed the desire to be the recipient of no ship introductions."

"What the deuce is he, a billionaire?"

"You have me there, sir. I confess that I know nothing whatever about him. This is the first time he has ever sailed on my deck."

All of which perfectly accounts for Mr. Robert's sighs in what musicians call the doloroso. If only he knew the colonel! How simple it would be! Certainly, a West Point graduate would find some consideration. But the colonel spoke to no one save his daughter, and his daughter to no one save her parent, her maid, and the stewardess. Would they remain in New York, or would they seek their far-off southern home? Oh, the thousands of questions which surged through his brain! From time to time he glanced sympathetically at the colonel, whose fingers drummed and drummed and drummed.

"Poor wretch! his stomach must be in bad shape. Or maybe he has the palsy." Warburton mused upon the curious ineptitude of the human anatomy.

But Col. Annesley did not have the palsy. What he had is at once the greatest blessing and the greatest curse of God—remembrance, or conscience, if you will.

What a beautiful color her hair was, dappled with sunshine and shadow! . . . Pshaw! Mr. Robert threw aside his shawl and book (it is of no real importance, but I may as well add that he never completed the reading of that summer's most popular novel) and sought the smoking-room, where, with the aid of a fat perfecto and a liberal stack of blues, he proceeded to divert himself till the boat reached quarantine. I shall not say that he left any of his patrimony at the mahogany table with its green-baize covering and its little brass disks for cigar ashes, but I am certain that he did not make one of those stupendous winnings we often read about and never witness. This much, however: he made the acquaintance of a very important personage, who was presently to add no insignificant weight on the scales of Mr. Robert's destiny.

He was a Russian, young, handsome, suave, of what the newspapers insist on calling distinguished bearing. He spoke English pleasantly but imperfectly. He possessed a capital fund of anecdote, and Warburton, being an army man, loved a good droll story. It was a revelation to see the way he sipped the end of his cigar into his coffee, a stimulant which he drank with Balzacian frequency and relish. Besides these accomplishments, he played a very smooth hand at the great American game. While Mr. Robert's admiration was not aroused, it was surely awakened.

For Beating His Wife.

Daniel Banks colored, for whipping his wife, was fined $15 and costs by Justice Charles W. Emery. The case was referred yesterday from police court, the offense being committed outside the city limits.

It is easy to forgive, after we get even.

SCHOOLS CLOSED FOR THE SUMMER

No More Class Work in Any of The Grades.

Class Day Exercises of Seniors Take Place Wednesday Night Instead of Afternoon.

A BUSY WEEK FOR SCHOLARS

The schools closed yesterday afternoon with the dismissal of the classes at 3:30 o'clock for the remainder of the term as far as studies are concerned, but next week there will be a renewed activity in the work and the schools will come to a brilliant close, the climax being reached by a reception given the graduates by the alumni association.

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday will be consumed in test examinations. Wednesday night the class day exercises will be held. It originally was intended to have them on the afternoon but on account of the building being occupied the afternoon part of the program was abandoned.

Thursday night, June 7, the regular commencement will be held and on the following night the colored commencement will be held. On this same night the alumni association will hold a reception for the graduates.

This will close the schools for the summer and there will be an exodus of teachers following the first week of vacation. Superintendent Lieb and Principal E. G. Payne both will attend college during the summer, and there will be about twenty teachers to leave for summer normal schools and colleges.
